ABOUT ME

From the moment I knew how to write the code to get the area of a square, I fell in love with coding. I love the feeling of creating something and watching it working properly, so I prefer software engineering over data science (my degree). I really want to get the skills that allows me to build a full application, but I need an internship first. I intend to try to demonstrate my passion about coding by learning as hard as I can to get the required skills for any job.

INTERESTS

- Reading and writing
I love to read books and novels about everything , but I also know how to write an essay or a paragraph in Arabic or English.
- Playing video games
Aren't we all ? :)
